The SIMS motto, “Make a Difference” resonates in the auditorium at SIMS on a sprightly Saturday morning, as the opening ceremony sets the tone for the SIMS Inter MUN 2023. The ceremony commenced with a formal address by Brig. Dr. Rajiv Divekar, highlighting how Model United Nations conferences provide a platform for students to engage in meaningful discussions, simulations, and debates on various global issues. He also highlighted that every single one of us has the power to bring about positive change, we may not be able to solve all the problems in society, but we can make a difference in our own communities, in our own neighborhoods, and in our own families.

He went on to welcome the Chief Guest for the event, Amb. (Retd.) Manjeev Singh Puri, Former representative of India to EU, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Nepal, with a token of gratitude. Amb. Manjeev Singh Puri addressed the August gathering with his words of wisdom and shared snippets of his life experiences and the role India has played till now and will be playing in modelling the future of Model United Nations. He applauded the initiative taken by SIMS to promote an interdisciplinary approach to diplomacy and international relations through this MUN.

The ceremony went on to an enthralling Question Answer session with the audience on a myriad of topics, ranging from the role of diplomacy to multilateralism, where the students gained Amb. Puri’s valuable insights on pressing world issues before the delegates moved on to a day of discussion, debate, and dissolving dilemma.

The event was well received by the audience. Attached along with this letter, is a brief report of the ceremony and the events that happened during the session. The event was successfully organized under the guidance of Dr. Smita Mehendale, faculty in-charge SIMS MUN Society and leadership of Ankush Dhiman, Secretary General of SIMS MUN Society, and Anubhab Chattopadhyay, Deputy Director General of SIMS MUN Society.

UNGA Report

SIMS INTER MUN 2023

SIMS Inter MUN 2023 started off with the inaugural session which was addressed by our honorable chief guest Amb. Manjeev Singh Puri, Former ambassador of India to Nepal. He spoke about the importance of UN and the world coming together as one big family and the need for more involvement of developing nations in UNSC that would help to ensure that the council is more representative of the global community and that its decisions are more reflective of the interests of all UN member states.

He also addressed the students as the future of the world and reminded them of some esteemed officers in the defence field who fought for the betterment and protection of our country. The session witnessed the presence of Brig. (Dr.) Rajiv Divekar, Director of SIMS; Assistant Professor-Dr. Smita Mehendale, faculty in-charge of SIMS MUN Society; faculty members of SIMS and participants of SIMS Inter MUN 2023. Post the inaugural session the delegates moved to their respective committees to start the discussion. There were three committees this year namely, UNHCR, UNGA and the International Press.

The total number of participants in UNGA was forty-three. The committee started with the RoP (Rules of Procedure) session taken by the chairs to clear the queries of the delegates regarding the proceedings of the committee. All the doubts of the delegates regarding the proceedings and formalities were resolved by the chairs prior to the formal committee proceedings, following which the committee entered the formal deliberations and speeches where delegates raised prominent issues related to the set agenda.

The United Nations General Assembly started the formal committee proceedings, and the debate that followed was a heated one, with countries expressing their views on the concerned topic “UNGA: 78 years of UNGA: A need for reforms in the UNSC- size of an enlarged council and its working methods.”

Shifting Tides: The Twilight of Veto Power and the Dawn of Unified Action 26th August 2023

The delegate of Ukraine exposed the limitations of the UNSC and why there is an urgent need for reform. Ukraine’s delegate talked about how Russia's attack against Ukraine was not limited to the war. With their veto privilege, they also effectively hindered the UNSC from intervening in aid to Ukraine. They talked about how being influenced by such power puts other nations at a disadvantage since the P5 make decisions that cater to their nation's personal interest, which then goes against the very essence of the United nation.

On day two, the conference commenced with India drawing attention to its status as the world's most populous country, representing a massive portion of the global population. They showcased recent achievements such as the Chandrayaan launch and the growth of their GDP and economy.

India argued that their evolving global role justifies a permanent seat on the UNSC. As discussions unfolded, India found support from France and the United Kingdom.

According to the delegate of Poland, "Rather than taking responsible actions against the territorial aggressions in various regions, Russia themselves have been involved in the aggression adventures". Sweden, Ireland, Ukraine, and Brazil have all highlighted instances where Russia has misused its authority to serve personal interests.

Ukraine's delegate stated that "Russia's savage blitz on Ukraine is a stark reminder of the UNSC's impotence when the interests of one or more of the P5 conflict with those of the other members." Most of the nations agree that Russia's aggressive actions against Ukraine underscore the UNSC's inability to address conflicts arising between the P5 and other member states.

Russian delegate, however, refutes these allegations, asserting that its actions are in its national interest and not a form of aggression.

Similarly, China's delegate has been criticized for misusing its P5 status to exert pressure on smaller Asian nations. The delegates of Malaysia and Nepal have condemned China's behavior as "bullying."

Pakistan's delegate further points out India's role in obstructing their progress and sees India's potential permanent seat in the UNSC as a Threat to Pakistan. In conclusion, the recent discussions underscore the pressing need to reform the UNSC to ensure it remains effective in addressing contemporary global challenges.

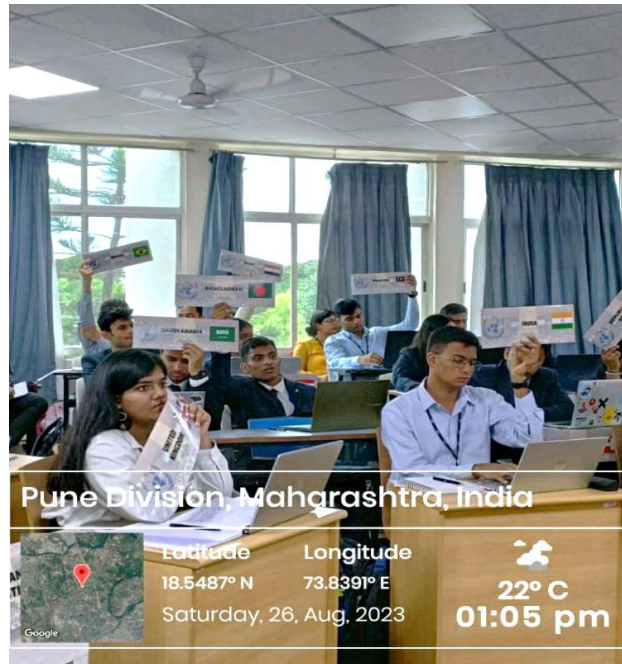

Conversely, delegates of countries like Maldives, Sweden, Poland, Saudi Arabia, Nepal, Azerbaijan, Spain, and Iraq strongly opposed the P5's veto power. These nations observed that the veto system grants an unfair advantage to the P5, leaving smaller nations in a perpetual power struggle.

Surprisingly, delegates of China and Pakistan shifted their stance on UNSC expansion, now expressing support for it. Delegate of China suggested granting more power to South African countries while still retaining some control.

Sweden's delegate noted that since 1950, the UNSC has expanded its original size four times, magnifying its influence over the UNGA. They drew parallels between this expansion and the undemocratic nature of the veto system.

In conclusion, the recent discussions underscore the pressing need to reform the UNSC to ensure it remains effective in addressing contemporary global challenges. The concerns expressed by various nations highlight the imperative of a more representative and dynamic council structure to navigate the complexities of the evolving world order.

UNHCR Report
SIMS INTER MUN 2023

Refugee crisis and global quest for solutions

“If we are to deliberate and find solutions to the refugee crisis, it is time that we avoid hypocrisy and address the lack of transparency present at this forum.”

These were the sharp remarks of the USA delegate aimed at the Russian delegate during the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) meeting. The Russian delegate had previously iterated that the refugee crisis is a matter of shared responsibility and conflict is not the only reason behind the crisis. The delegate of USA was quick to question Russia’s stance in front of delegates from 28 countries in attendance.

The discussions covered each country’s stand on the issue as well as possible solutions and steps that can be taken to mitigate the issue on an international scale.

The Indian delegate was the first to present their country’s stand. They spoke about compassion and collective responsibility and how the country was ready to play its part in helping avert the crisis. India also presented possible solutions like implementing early warning systems for crisis situations actively taking place, creation of an international database for job opportunities for refugees, and mental health programs for displaced people.

In similar lines, the Moroccan delegate, too, suggested possible solutions like drafting proper policies to protect sensitive interest of people, establishing a committee that investigates the safety, security, employment, and economic welfare of refugee, and implementing safe pathway plans and options for displaced people on the move from areas of conflict.

While discussing its stand on the current refugee crisis in Europe, the South African delegate pointed out that Europe’s colonial past has come back to haunt it. They further added that colonialism played an important in destabilizing many countries in the world, the effects of which can still be felt today.

The Spanish delegate while agreeing to the point made, added that little could be achieved by blaming the past. Instead, delegate of Spain insisted that focus be brought to enhancing best practices for welcoming refugees, investing in sustainable development, prioritizing human rights protection, and encouraging better dialogue between countries.

On the 2nd day of the event, the spotlight was on the USA when their own hypocrisy was questioned by the Committee when the USA delegate tried to defend their National Security policy that caps refugee intake.

The USA delegate while in support of allowing refugees, fiercely defended its strict immigration and border patrol policies. The USA delegate spoke about the drug cartels operating internationally, and particularly, in South American countries that use refugees as possible drug mules to get illegal drugs inside the USA border.

Offering another perspective, Syrian delegate, an active conflict zone put forth some interesting points. The delegate of Syria appealed to the committee to stop the ongoing international proxy wars that has affected it immensely. As a beacon of hope, Syrian delegate proudly mentioned its efforts to ensure that the education rate within the country, despite the conflict, is maintained at 86%. It made a vehement appeal to increase the funding efforts to Syria, so that the country can invest in its infrastructure and provide cash incentives to people affected by poverty.

Focusing on offering solutions, the South Korean delegate emphasized the importance of providing legal support to refugees in their host countries. Adding to this, the Indian delegate spoke about the work permits. As about 56% of host countries do not permit employment of refugees, India advocated the need for allowing employment to refugees.

Ultimately, the integration and assimilation of refugees within their host countries is important for them to become a part of their new society.

The winners of the UNHCR Committee were as follows:

Best Delegate: Vinayak Naik – India

High Commendation: Aashay Inamdar - USA

Special Mention: Vidit Sahai – Syria Arab Republic

Verbal Mention: Nitish Sharma – Japan; Jahanvi Yadav – Greece; Shubham Kulkarni - Spain
